CALVARY CONNECTIONS

Cortney Wolf

Born in Springdale, Arkansas, I was raised at Calvary [starting at 18 months old] and I am now 44 years of age. Calvary is home to my family. My parents and grandparents have been instrumental in my childhood teaching me the ways of God.

My first job was at age 13, I would skip athletics at the end of the day [with permission from the coach] and walk down to the car lot and work the rest of the day for my Papa John [Grandfather], who was the owner. I now work for my uncle selling cars. This is what I always hoped to do. In fact, I usually work 3-4 different jobs at a time. I work at Lokomotion part-time, auctions & seasonal work at the corn maze. I put my family before everything else. I want to make sure my family is in church when the doors are open. One word of advice: Work hard but make sure that you take time to enjoy the journey also!

I met my wife, Danielle through my ex girlfriend. I had bought my first house and they were hanging out and came over to see my house and that was how we met. I asked my ex if I could have her best friend and the rest is history. Our third date was at church and we have been married 17 years with two kids, James & Kendyl.

Something interesting about me is that I have over 30,000 Hot Wheels still in the case, all in storage. I have some classic vehicles such as a Chevy S-10, 1966 Volkswagon Bug and a 1972 Chevy C-10.

My hidden talent is that God gave me the ability to make people laugh in hard times. I love to take a song and change the words to something crazy and funny. Now, if I could just learn the skills of how to deal with my wife [LOL]. Actually, our marriage is based upon God first, we date each other and make sure to keep the conversations going and continue to learn about each other.

I was around age 11 when I came to my faith in our old sanctuary. I keep my faith strong by staying in church, keeping godly friends and praying daily. I currently work with the media team and serve as a door greeter. I want my legacy to be known as someone that loved the Lord, my family, and that I liked to talk and joke and would always help anybody.
